Practice Pearls	Karissa Harvey, Columbus Public Health <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>➤ Safe Kids Central Ohio (SKCO) received funding from State Farm to work on a Provider Project. The project idea came from parents receiving outdated AAP guidelines from providers. In 2015 Safe Kids Central Ohio continued to see a trend of parents receiving outdate Car Seat recommendations. SKCO does about 500 car seat checks a year and last year held car seat classes checking over 800 seats. During Seat Checks they would continually hear Parents say “My Doctor said”, “My pediatrician said”. With the Doctor being a trusted resource that parents will believe the outdated AAP guidelines given during visits. SKCO decided to give a short informal survey to families inquiring were they received car seat</li> </ul>

	information and the findings came back with majority receiving information from providers. Safe Kids Central Ohio later conducted a community unified plan hiring an outside source that was funded by CPH. The survey given though the community unified plan focused on cribs and car seats. These were disturbed to Care Givers and Providers. Through the survey they were able to identify that 32% of parents surveyed said they would move their child forward facing at 6 months to a year and 34% of the Parents actually knew the AAP recommendation. Central Ohio was alarmed to discover that 39% of the Providers surveyed recommended moving a child to forward facing at 6 months to a year old. It was even more alarming that 39 of the Providers recommending outdated guidelines were in their priority zip codes. These facts lead to applying for the grant funds. With this Provider Project interested health care providers we given a one hour presentation was and then received large Car Seat informational cards to be place placed in exam rooms and the smaller ones are for the waiting room. The informational cards that are placed in the exam rooms tell the parents why a car has to be in a rearward facing or forward facing position and the images identify parts of the Safety Seat. Handouts were also provided to parents that include AAP guidelines as well as contact

	Department <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>➤ Stark County Safe Kids is turning 25 years old this year and was looking for a way to rebuild coalition members. In Celebration of 25 years they decided to host 25 events. The 1st Event was a Meet &amp; Greet that was intended to recruit members. Stark County invited 89 community members that included but not limited to; Police Departments, Fire Department, Mayors, Boys &amp; Girls Clubs, Jobs and Family Services, etc. Out of the 89 invitations there were 44 in attendance. As the attendees entered they were registered and received an informational pack about the coalition. There were tables set up that proved information on each of the coalition committees. There were also representative from each program at the table to greet and provide additional information. After attendees visited the committee's breakfast was also provided and they were able to network with each other. After networking took place they were presented with the history of Safe Kids, how to become a member and what Safe Kids will bring in 2017. The total cost of the event was $423 and there were 16 new members gained from the event.</li> </ul>
